Changing men’s attitudes and behaviours to women & technology

1. Education
   - Raising awareness and consciousness about their own worth
   - Highlight examples of good men
   - Need for legislation
   - Role models
   - Cultural change takes time
   - Training men from very early age - not dividing roles
   - Stop sisters laying the tables for their brothers
   - Resocialisation of men
   - Virtual Reality so that men can have experience of being a woman
   - Psychological training for teachers

2. Family (early life)
   - Problem of the tip of the iceberg
   - How parents raise their sons begins in the family
   - Don’t place the burden on women
   - Involve fathers as well
   - Need for legislation
   - Child pornography

3. Tech industry issues and employment
   - Involve men when we do gender action initiatives and see what they can bring
   - Girls at a very early stage with technology
   - Possibly repeating jobs and loss in early education transition processes
   - Renalise gender terms as used in education
   - Reducing communication barriers
   - Neutral gender view in education
   - New equals, new standards
   - Knowledge is power

4. Other issues
   - Legislation
   - Equal opportunities
   - Child pornography

5. Women
   - Women are the problem
   - We are the problem
   - Men
   - Other issues

6. Men
   - Don’t place the burden on women
   - Involve fathers as well
   - Need for legislation
   - Child pornography
   - Ladies are seen and not heard

7. Use of "equal opportunities" is often added in things such as job descriptions after discriminatory comments

8. Many men who are not predators do not realise what is going on

9. Being conscious to let women who are growing up think of "be different" and think differently

10. Consciousness encouraging women as they know they can do it

11. Even in "equal opportunities" guidance note

12. Many men who are not predators do not realise what is going on

13. We need consciousness to let women who are growing up have a "be different" and think differently

14. Usual sex roles for women and men